ACADEMIC EXPERIENCE

IQS School of Management | Universitat Ramon Llull

Barcelona, Spain

Research Assistant

09/2020–present

- Researched Chinese labor migration and child development for the Horizon 2020 CHINEQUALJUSTICE project.
 - ◇ Created a unique quasi-panel, synthesized virtues of prospect theory and dynamic discrete choice models, drew empirical specifications with theoretical micro-foundations, examined the effects of sector-based job prospects on individual migration decisions across approx. 280 Chinese cities and applied fixed effects, multilevel logistic regression and two-step system GMM.

◇ Assembled a panel, constructed novel indicators on the basis of the Human Development Index and Capability Approach and assessed the academic development of Chinese children and adolescents with fixed effects, linear mixed-effect and sharp RD estimators.

◇ Identified human mobility trajectories of 369 Chinese cities using Phillips and Sul's club convergence algorithms, drew multifaceted comparisons with both static and interactive maps and developed a dashboard to load interactive maps with widgets.

- Authored four articles with Prof. Mihály Tamás Borsi, Simiao Chen, Flavio Comim and Octasiano M. Valerio Mendoza.
- Collaborated with Prof. Jack W. Hou.

WORKING PAPERS

First Authored:

Valuing Children in China: Parents' Perceptions, Spending Priorities and Children's Capabilities, with Flavio Comim and Octasiano M. Valerio Mendoza

Short Abstract: This paper provides a composite analysis of children's academic development based on comprehensive outcomes and introduces a series of innovative indicators rooted in the capability approach. Significantly, it presents an index of parents' advantages to capture how parents influence their children and establishes a new indicator of spending priorities to reify the value of children's education that families have reasoned. The study sample consists of 8,422 children and adolescents surveyed during 2012 to 2018. Our results primarily show that a 1% increase in the parent advantage index yields an increase of 13.85% to 21.31% in children's academic development, and the biggest leap in prioritizing education-relevant spending increases the child outcomes by 2.88% to 6.57%. Further, if the interplay of parent's higher educational attainment and spending priorities is taken into account, children's academic development could reach a maximum difference of 21.96%. We conclude that parents can influence the development of their children through their beings and doings and, particularly, the value they place on their children's education, that go beyond a limited focus on material dimensions.
